NEW FURNITURE DESIGNS

Gary has maintained his 2009 prolific form to produce some new designs just in time for the festive season. Passionately involved with his exciting new timber surfboards set to hit the gallery later in January we have just managed to pry him away briefly to produce a new version of the Island table with the last twin slab from the "freak of nature "monster marri burl. This time sitting on a timber oblique pyramid form.

Those who coveted the Crab and Cray chairs from the Abrohols collection will have to be quick to secure the latest of these as they do simply walk out of the door.

Also not pictured here, the Fish Entry Table ,whilst still in the polish shop will be in the gallery for its debut next week. Again such a fabulous piece it wont stay long !

ART GALLERY NEWS

DAVID GILES - new artist to gallery. We are excited to introduce David Giles to the gallery. Giles' approach to painting is intuitive, spontaneous and inspirational, being driven to uncover a mystical narrative, as if peering into the depths of dreams. Deeply meditative, Giles invites us to peer through symbolic windows into a deeper reality to discover and encounter inner worlds.

MARGARET HEENAN

New to the gallery this season, Margaret Heenan's kiln formed, slumped glass makes a bold statement.

A versatile glass artist, her work ranges from painterly through to linear. Her work is frequently fired four or five times in order to achieve the desired effect thus inviting the viewer to look beyond the surface and become personally involved.

DI TAYLOR

Regular summer holiday visitors to the gallery will be pleased to know that Di Taylor will again be showing new work in January. Those wishing to meet Di in person can make a time to find out more about her work. Di has enjoyed a busy and most successful professional year, now exhibiting on the East coast as well. We are delighted to show these new paintings which revisit her wonderful Margaret River coastal vignettes and yet reveal subtle changes in her approach to composition, palette and figurative form for you to enjoy!

JUDY PROSSER

Judy has also sent some wonderful new paintings this season. Very popular, the dancing brologas feature here weaving a graceful dance along side the figure silhouetted this time against a typical Kimberley lightning storm. Come in and see the vibrant beach scenes and enjoy the many smaller works we also have on display.
