Inspiration

"Our Landscape constantly changes and runs a gamut of moods, be it the intensity of incoming storms or the soft light of a windless day" Atkinson

"Short Stories" is a series of works exploring the different moods of Margaret River, and reflecting the many changes I have experienced over the thirty seven years of painting this region.

The concept of "Short Stories" is that each work evokes a certain mood and tells its own story. By playing with the scale of the works in this show I wanted to create dichotomy between the grand scale works alongside the small intimate pieces, which are like little vignettes, creating a dialogue as to how we experience our landscape, in its intimacy or grand scale.

So like an Author or a Poet who uses words or verse I use the elements of light and space to express "the poetry of landscape" Atkinson

Don't miss out

Shaun Atkinson's solo exhibitions are well spaced apart, keeping his followers anticipating what he has to offer next. It has been 3 years since his last show "Sea Temples" in Perth, and 6 years since his last show "Margaret River Series" at Jahroc.

Catch up with Shaun Atkinson and join us on the opening night of the 2nd of November, or visit the gallery before the exhibition closes on the 2nd December.

Don't miss the opportunity to see this truly incredible exhibition.

All works are for sale.
